shall be paid to the Management Board member in accordance with the provisions of the relevant general acts of the Company.

2.2. Variable Remuneration

Members of the Management Board are also entitled to a variable component of remuneration, i.e., an annual bonus, which shall be determined and paid in accordance with a decision of the Supervisory Board and the criteria defined by the Supervisory Board. These criteria will primarily include the achievement of key financial indicators as well as qualitative (non-financial) performance measures (hereinafter jointly referred to as the "key performance indicators"):

- achievement of an annual EBITDA of EUR 4,000,000.00,
- achievement of personal goals, which will be determined annually for each individual Management Board member by the Supervisory Board.

The maximum annual bonus may amount to no more than 12 gross I monthly salaries of the respective Management Board member.

The amount of the variable component of the total remuneration shall not be less than 10% of the total remuneration, provided that the established key performance indicators are achieved.

Each Management Board member shall be entitled to an annual bonus relating to a specific business year if the following cumulative preconditions are met:

- the Company's EBITDA for the business year has reached at least EUR 4,000,000.00;
- the annual personal goals determined for the individual Management Board member by the Supervisory Board have been achieved;
- the Management Board member was employed by the Company throughout the business year and remained employed as of 31 December of the relevant business year.

The assessment of the achievement of financial key performance indicators (EBITDA) shall be based on the Company's consolidated financial statements for the relevant business year, while the assessment of non-financial performance measures shall be based on the discretionary decision of the Company's Supervisory Board.

The entitlement to payment of the annual bonus, as well as the amount thereof, shall be determined by a decision of the Supervisory Board, which is responsible for assessing whether all cumulative conditions and prerequisites for the payment of the annual bonus to the respective Management Board member, as described above, have been met. Provided that a Management Board member becomes entitled to an annual bonus, the Supervisory Board shall, considering all relevant circumstances, determine the amount of the bonus or the number of shares to which the Management Board member is entitled.

The annual bonus shall be paid exclusively in Company shares, based on the average share price on the Zagreb Stock Exchange on the day preceding the date of adoption of the Company's annual financial statements by the Supervisory Board.

The Company shall transfer the shares within 30 days from the date of adoption of the annual financial statements by the Supervisory Board.

The Management Board member shall be free to dispose of the shares as of the moment they are transferred to his or her personal account with the competent institution (SKDD).

This method of paying the annual bonus in Company shares aims to ensure that the bonuses awarded to Management Board members are balanced, sustainable, and transparent. Furthermore, it aims to motivate and retain qualified Management Board members and to promote sound and effective risk management, discouraging Management Board members from taking risks exceeding the acceptable risk level.

It is not foreseen that any part of the remuneration will be deferred.

The Company does not have the right to request the repayment (clawback) of the variable components of remuneration.

2.3. Benefits

A Management Board member is insured at the Company's expense under a life and disability insurance policy that covers all Company employees.

A Management Board member is entitled to the use of a Company car for both private and business purposes, as well as the use of a Company mobile phone and IT equipment for business purposes.

3. CONTRACTS WITH MANAGEMENT BOARD MEMBERS

Contracts with Management Board members, on behalf of and for the account of the Company, are concluded by the President of the Supervisory Board of the Company, based on a decision of the Supervisory Board. Management Board members are employed by the Company under an indefinite term contract that outlines their rights, obligations, and authorities. This contract terminates upon the cessation of their membership in the Executive Board. However, if an Executive Board member is reappointed to the same position after their term has expired, the existing contract remains in force.

The responsibilities of the President of the Management Board and the members of the Management Board are determined by their contracts and the Work Regulations of the Management board. Unless expressly determined otherwise by the contract, a Management Board member has the same rights and obligations from the employment relationship as other employees of the Company.

The contract expressly excludes the application of the provisions of the Labor Law regarding the termination or cancellation of this contract, and the legal consequences of termination or cancellation of the contract, except for provisions related to severance pay.

An Management Board member may resign from the position of Management Board member, and each contractual party may terminate the contract for any reason and without explanation with written notice, with a notice period of 30 days.

An Management Board member may be recalled from office by a decision of the Supervisory Board of the Company in accordance with the law, the Statute, and other general acts of the Company, especially if they consistently fail to achieve planned and expected results in their work, in all other cases in which they in any way harm the interests of the Company, and for other significant reasons.

A recall from office of an Management Board member by the Supervisory Board of the Company is grounds for unilateral termination of the contract by the Company and for termination of the employment relationship of the Management Board member of the Company.

By a decision of the Company, an Management Board member must be offered work at another job within the Company or a related company. In this case, the parties will re-regulate their mutual relations by an appropriate contract.

Management Board members are entitled to severance pay under the conditions and in the amount determined by the Labor Law.

The Company does not make voluntary pension and health insurance contributions for an Management Board member nor is it obligated to buy back pension years if the Management Board member goes into early retirement upon termination of the contract with the Company.

4. MEASURES TO PREVENT CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

The rules that Management Board members must follow to prevent conflicts of interest are determined by law, the Corporate Governance Code established by the Zagreb Stock Exchange d.d. and the Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency, the Work Regulations of the Management Board, and contracts from point 3 of this Policy, and include, among other things:

- prohibition of voting on an Management Board decision relating to the conclusion of contracts, or undertaking any other legal transaction, under which an Management Board member and/or a member of their immediate family or a related person would have any legal, material, or other interest, directly or indirectly,
- prohibition, without the consent of the Supervisory Board of the Company, for an Management Board member to conduct business on their own or another's account that falls within the scope of the Company's business in other companies and organizations, to be a founder or co-owner of a company, a member of the Management Board or Supervisory Board in another company engaged in the business of the Company, and to conduct business for their own or another's account in the premises of the Company.

Contracts from point 3 of this Policy contain provisions on the prohibition of competition, contractual prohibition of competing with the Company after the end of the employment relationship, provisions on limiting the participation of Management Board members in other companies, both in membership and in the bodies of other companies, as well as provisions on the confidentiality of business secrets.

5. ADOPTION, IMPLEMENTATION, AND SUPERVISION OF THE POLICY

The Policy is established by the Supervisory Board and submitted for approval to the General Assembly at least every four years.

In preparing the Policy, the conditions of workers' remuneration established by the general acts of the Company, the agreed strategy, risk-taking propensity, economic environment, and working conditions in the Company were also considered. The level of remuneration of the members of the Management Board of the Company reflects their time commitments and responsibilities. The adoption of the Policy involved employees of the Finance, Accounting, and Controlling Sector of the Company and the Legal and Human Resources Services of the Company who provided the necessary assistance to the Supervisory Board.

The Supervisory Board oversees the implementation of the Policy and examines the Remuneration Report under Art. 272.r of the Companies Act.

The Supervisory Board is authorized to temporarily deviate from this Policy if required for the long-term welfare of the Company, particularly in cases where the condition of the Company and/or changes in market circumstances require it. The proposal for deviation from the Policy, stating the reasons and scope of the deviation, is submitted by the Supervisory Board to the General Assembly for approval.

In the event of submitting a revised Policy to the General Assembly in accordance with Art. 276.a of the Companies Act, an explanation of all significant changes and a review of the extent to which the results of the voting and the positions of the shareholders on the previous remuneration policy and the remuneration report have been considered in the new revised Remuneration Policy will also be submitted.

6. FINAL PROVISIONS

This Policy is submitted for approval to the General Assembly in accordance with Art. 247.a of the Companies Act and comes into effect on the day it is approved by the General Assembly of the Company.
